

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

COVID-19 AND CANCER ECHO FOR CANCER CAREGIVERS

The American Cancer Society has launched a COVID-19 and Cancer ECHO to share up-to-date information with non-paid caregivers about how the COVID-19 pandemic impacts the care of cancer patients. National experts from the National Comprehensive Cancer Network and the American Cancer Society will answer your questions in a secure, online environment at no cost. Participants are not required to attend all three sessions.

JOIN US FOR THE COVID-19 AND CANCER ECHO SERIES

Wednesday, August 19 from 2:00—3:00 ET

Topics may include:

- What providing cancer care entails and how it impacts the family
- How caregiving affects mental and physical health
- Coping with stress while providing care to a loved one with cancer

Wednesday, September 2 from 2:00—3:00 ET

Topics may include:

- Distilling information about diagnosis and treatment
- Communication within the patient-caregiver dyad
- Advocating for patients within the health-care team
- Finding strength as a caregiver during a pandemic

Wednesday, September 16 from 2:00—3:00 ET

Topics may include:

- Advanced symptom management
- Hard conversations about advanced disease

CLICK HERE TO REGISTER TODAY!

MEET THE EXPERTS

Durado Brooks, MD, MPH

Vice President, Prevention & Early Detection
American Cancer Society

Rachel Cannady

Strategic Director, Cancer Caregiver Support
American Cancer Society

J. Nicholas Dionne-Odom, PhD, APRN, ACHPN, FPCN

Assistant Professor, School of Nursing,
University of Alabama at Birmingham
Co-Director, Caregiver and Bereavement
Support Services, UAB Center for Palliative and Supportive Care

Erin Kent, PhD, MS, Facilitator

Associate Professor
University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Matthew J. Loscalzo, L.C.S.W., APOS Fellow

Liliane Elkins Professor in Supportive Care
Programs (NPI 1437690500)
City of Hope

National Comprehensive
Cancer Network®